

Johann Henrich Waldrop married Anna Margaretha Waldeck (her father was Georg Friedrich Waldeck) on 08 November 1763 in Immenhausen, Hessen, Germany (DE).

Their son Johannes Waldrop / Waldeck was born in Immenhausen, Hessen, Germany (DE) on 16 March 1764 and moved to South Africa (ZA). It is assumed he must have taken on the name of Waldeck, which is a older variation of Waldrop. (Source:- Dekanat Hofgeismar e-mail)

Johannes Waldeck, from Immenhausen, joined the Dutch East India Company (VOC) , Chamber Amsterdam, on 27 August 1790 as a soldier. He boards the ship INDUS, which departs Amsterdam bound for Batavia. The ship arrived at the Cape on Wednesday, 5 January 1791. It departed the Cape on Tuesday, 1 February 1791 bound for Batavia, where it arrived on 20 May 1791. It is assumed Johannes Waldeck left the services of the VOC on 31 August 1793 at the Cape of Good Hope because it was the last entry in the books of the VOC on him. In 1817 he was granted burger rights for the Cape. In Dutch vryburger or vrijburgher, was given when a soldier or other employee of the VOC was released from their contractual obligations to the VOC and permitted to farm, become a tradesman, or work for others at the Cape of Good Hope. Johannes Waldeck became a shopkeeper in Cape Town.
